Dear McAllister:

The American Society for Investigative Pathology (ASIP), is sponsoring an exciting symposia program at its upcoming 1996 Annual Meeting. This meeting, part of the ASBMB/ASIP/AAI Joint Meeting, will be held June 2-6, 1996 in New Orleans.

The eight symposia (list attached) will bring together several key investigators for a comprehensive discussion about the latest developments in their field, as well as potential research opportunities and understanding of basic biologic mechanisms. The ASIP is seeking funding to support the travel expenses of these speakers.

ASIP sessions are very well attended and we expect this year's program to be particularly attractive, not just to experimental pathologists but to many FASEB members (biochemists, molecular biologists and immunologists).

We hope that your organization will be able to provide $1,000 for the symposium which you feel appropriately relates to your area of interest. Corporate support received before March 1, 1996 will be acknowledged in the printed ASBMB/ASIP/AAI Joint Meeting Program distributed to all meeting attendees (approximately 5,000 scientists); contributions received after that date will be acknowledged on-site at the meeting.

Should you have any questions about this program or if you need additional information, please do not hesitate to call me.

Sincerely,

Frances A. Pitlick
